CARRIE NATION HAD WASHINGTON ASTIR.

Starts a Row at White House Trying to See Roosevelt, Then Goes to the Senate, Where She Shouts Against Saloons and Is Placed Under Arrest.

Carried Shrieking from the Capitol to the Station-House, and Later Arraigned in Court and Fined—She Addresses Crowds and Sells Hatchets.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Carrie Nation invaded the White House to-day and was put out. Then she ran off to the Capitol, rushed to the Senate gallery, undertook to make a speech and was put in jail. She was seized by two brawny doorkeepers of the Senate just after she had started the Senate below by screaming:
"Down with anarchy! Down with the conspiracy!"
She was hustled to an elevator and shot down to the basement, where she was held until a patrol wagon arrived and carried her off shrieking to the Sixth Precinct police station.
There she was charged with disorderly conduct and with selling merchandise in the Capitol building without a license, she having done a rushing business in the sale of her miniature hatchets in the gallery before the Senate met.
She was taken from the station to court, where she was fined $25, which she paid.
En route to the court she started an address on the subject of telling to the world the curse of Anarchy and rum, saying that she had but obeyed the injunction of the Master to "speak aloud." Judge Kimball permitted Mrs. Nation to continue her remarks, which furnished amusement to a large number of spectators.
At the conclusion she was fined $25 or thirty days in jail, the maximum penalty for the offense charged. Mrs. Nation made an appeal for assistance and by the sale of souvenir hatchets added a sum to her pocket supply of money which allowed her to pay her fine.
Mrs. Nation created the first disturbance at the White House when she called at the Executive offices and demanded to see the President.
Secretary Lobb declined to allow her to see Mr. Roosevelt, and she became so demonstrative that he called upon two officers to remove her.
She continued to shout so loud that it was necessary to take her out of the grounds. As she left the building she shouted:
"I am going to pray for a Prohibition President—one who will represent the people and not the distillers and brewers."
Then she made her way to the Capitol, where she was admitted to the marble room of the Senate by direction of Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, to whom she sent her card from the gallery.
Years ago she had lived in Senator Cockrell's town and it was for this reason that he received her.
She immediately launched a tirade against saloons to the unspeakable consternation of the dignified and abstemious Senator from Missouri. After vainly trying to quiet her, Senator Cockrell fled back to the cover of the Senate Chamber.
The police permitted her to go to the gallery with the result stated.

CUBAN TREATY BILL HAS BEEN PASSED BY HOUSE

Carried Through by a Rising Vote That Was Almost Unanimous After a Peppery Debate, Result Being 335 to 21.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The Cuban treaty bill was passed by the House at 4:32 P. M. to-day by a rising vote of 335 to 21.
The vote, which was to have been taken in the House at 4 o'clock on the measure, was delayed by a roll call on an appeal by Congressman Williams, the minority leader, from a decision of Speaker Cannon.
The final debate was rather peppery. Congressman Hepburn, Republican, from Iowa, stating that he would vote for the bill, but with reluctance. He said he was not of those who believed we owe Cuba anything. This country had spent $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 and sacrificed many lives that Cuba might be relieved from oppression.
Mr. Hepburn said he believed in Republican reciprocity—the reciprocity of McKinley. In this connection he quoted from the speech made by the late President at Buffalo.
Congressman Bronesard, of Louisiana, who opposed the bill on behalf of the sugar producers of his State said that he was against the measure because it was not in line with Democratic tariff reform. He said the President had infringed on the rights of the House. Then, he said, would profit by the reduction of the tariff on sugar, and no benefits would accrue to the consumer.
Congressman Sulzer, supported the bill, as it was a step in the right direction, although it did not meet his expectations.
The debate for the Democrats was closed by Mr. Williams, the minority leader. Referring to a question asked by Mr. Watson (Rep., Ind.), "What is protection?" Williams said his definition would be "Protection is a system of taxation whereby many are robbed in order that a few may be housed by legislation into an artificial prosperity."

JUMPED WITHOUT SADDLE.

Harry W. Smith Wins $35 Wager at the Horse Show.
During the noon recess to-day a feat of horsemanship was performed on the tan bark that had never been seen at any other horse show. Harry W. Smith, the well-known cross country rider of Worcester, Mass., jumped a five-foot barrier on the champion hunter Sure Foot, without using a saddle. Yesterday William O'Keefe, a Long Island horseman, set Mr. Smith a bet that he could not make the jump. Mr. Smith took him up and set for the jump. Mr. Garland's Sure Foot for the jump. Mr. Smith's acceptance added $35 to this Mr. Smith, beautiful style, receiving a tremendous ovation.
One of Brewster & Sons' drawing wagon was smashed to pieces, and John Doherty, the driver, had a narrow escape from injury this afternoon when the big bay horse pulling it made a dash through the Fourth avenue door, the rear of the wagon to fall upon his withers. This frightened him and he leaped down the entire incline to the street, where he fell.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BENNINGS RACE TRACK, WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—One of the best programmes ever seen at Bennings was on this afternoon, but it did not attract a very large attendance because of the extreme cold.
Washingtonians are essentially a cold-blooded species, and when wintry winds whistle they build a little fire in their parlors and play it off the boards. Nothing can tempt them to brave the cold weather.
All the New Yorkers were on hand, of course, and those in the enough of those to keep the bookies busy. Their money is a educated money, however, and during the past three days they have skinned the pencilers pretty well.
The track was in excellent condition this afternoon, though not fast. Some of the races were cut by withdrawals, but the contests were good.

RUNS DOWN AND KILLS A WOMAN

Daniel Rosenstock's Team Fatally Injures Mrs. Bessie Silver and He Leads the Police a Long Chase.

After running over and killing Mrs. Bessie Silver near her home in a crowded section of the east side this afternoon Daniel Rosenstock, the driver of a team, living at No. 121 Norfolk street, was chased through more than two miles of streets by the police and was finally captured when he reached Broadway, where he was blocked by the congestion of traffic.
Mrs. Silver, who was thirty-five years old, had left her home at No. 71 East Fourth street, to go to a hospital where she was being treated for a malady. At the corner of Fourth street and Second avenue she was knocked down by the team driven by Rosenstock.
Instead of stopping Rosenstock whipped up his horses. Policemen, who were following, followed him to the corner of Broadway and Second street, where he was blocked by the congestion of traffic.

STEEL TRUST ABANDONS ITS BOND SCHEME

Idea Was to Convert $200,000,000 of Preferred Stock Into Bonds, Through the Firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., but Official Notification of Change in the Plan Is Announced.

RUMORS OF A SUIT TO RECOVER $10,000,000 BY STOCKHOLDERS.

Interesting Disclosures Expected of How the Preferred and Common Steel Stocks Were Squeezed to Low Figures and Oceans of Water Poured Into the Organization.

The plan to convert $200,000,000 of preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation into 5 per cent. second mortgage bonds has been abandoned and the syndicate has been dissolved. Up to date over $146,000,000 of stock has been converted and the profits to J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., who organized the conversion syndicate, have been enormous. How much the corporation made out of the deal remains to be seen.
A statement containing the information that the scheme to issue $200,000,000 in bonds for a like amount of stock had been abandoned was issued this afternoon from the Morgan banking office. It reads:
The following statement was issued to-day by E. H. Gary, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the United States Steel Corporation:
"At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation, held yesterday, it was by unanimous vote decided to suggest to J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. that the syndicate conditions for the conversion of preferred stock into second mortgage 5 per cent. bonds be cancelled and terminated before the amount of $150,000,000, which figure has nearly been reached.
"Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. acceded to the request of the Finance Committee and no further exchange will be made for the account of the syndicate beyond the amount stated. The matter now stands as follows:
"$146,388,500 of bonds has already been issued in exchange for stock received and cancelled.
"$3,611,500 remains to be issued for preferred stock to be converted by the syndicate.
"$2,902,000 in bonds has been sold at par for cash and paid for in full on Oct. 1 and already issued.
"$17,098,000 of bonds have been sold at par for cash, upon which 25 per cent. was paid and which will be issued whenever the remaining 75 per cent. shall be called for and paid.
"This makes a total issue outstanding of $170,000,000. A balance of $30,000,000 of bonds available for sale for cash will be executed as stipulated in the indenture and will be placed in the treasury of the corporation as an asset.
"This will make a total of $200,000,000 issued. The $50,000,000 remaining available for exchange for preferred stock will be held subject to the exclusive right of the corporation itself to deal with from time to time as the Board of Directors may see fit. It is not the present intention of the corporation to make any further conversion of preferred stock into bonds."
The commonly accepted "lead pipe cinch" is a case of tearing money into bits and tossing the bits into a sewer compared with the advantage the Morgan house had in the conversion scheme. The inside history of it remains to be published and it is not unlikely that disgruntled bondholders will force another hearing such as that which brought out so much of discredit to the men who formed the Shipbuilding Trust. At any rate a plan for bringing such a hearing about has been talked of.
PERKINS MADE AGREEMENT.
In the first place George Perkins, of the Morgan partnership, is chairman of the Finance Committee of the Steel Trust. In that capacity he made an agreement with J. P. Morgan & Company, practically an agreement with himself, to negotiate the conversion of the $200,000,000 of stock into bonds for a compensation of 4 per cent.
On all the stock that has been converted J. P. Morgan & Co. have made $5,800,000. In addition to this there has been an enormous profit in the operation.
The difference between the price of the preferred stock and the price of the bonds has never been less than 15 points. Buying in the stock at a certain figure and then selling the bonds for the stock at a figure 15 points higher has netted the Morgan firm in the judgment of well-informed men in Wall street at least $16,000,000. This, added to the legitimate 4 per cent. commission on the transaction makes the total winning on the deal close to $20,000,000.
But this is not all that J. P. Morgan & Co. have got out of the Steel Trust. In underwriting the first conversion Morgan & Co. put up only $20,000,000. On this investment $56,000,000 was realized. This, added to the $20,000,000 credited to the firm by common report as profits out of the last conversion scheme, makes the total profit to Morgan & Co. up to date $76,000,000.
SUIT AGAINST MORGAN FIRM.
Outsiders interested in the Steel Trust, but not let in on the Morgan manipulations are not satisfied. A combination of the malcontents has been tentatively arranged and a movement is on foot to sue J. P. Morgan & Co. for at least the profits accrued from the conversion by commission.
Those interested in the plan to sue aver that Morgan & Co.'s profit realized from buying the stock and selling the bonds is ample compensation for the work that has been done. There is likelihood that a suit more interesting and more illustrative of Wall street methods than even the Shipbuilding Trust suit will grow out of the conversion scheme.
There is a possibility that the prospect of such a suit has led to a plan to dissolve the syndicate, even though the object for which it was formed has not been accomplished. In case a new syndicate is formed J. P. Morgan & Co. (Continued on Second Page.)
